

Diagrams for PhD research

By Scott Skipworth ORCID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-2674-529X>

Disseminated Embodiment: My term for a repositioning of human embodiment for the 21st Century: no longer a distinct figure in relation to the built environment, but an expanding and contracting satellite system of the local and global built environment itself.

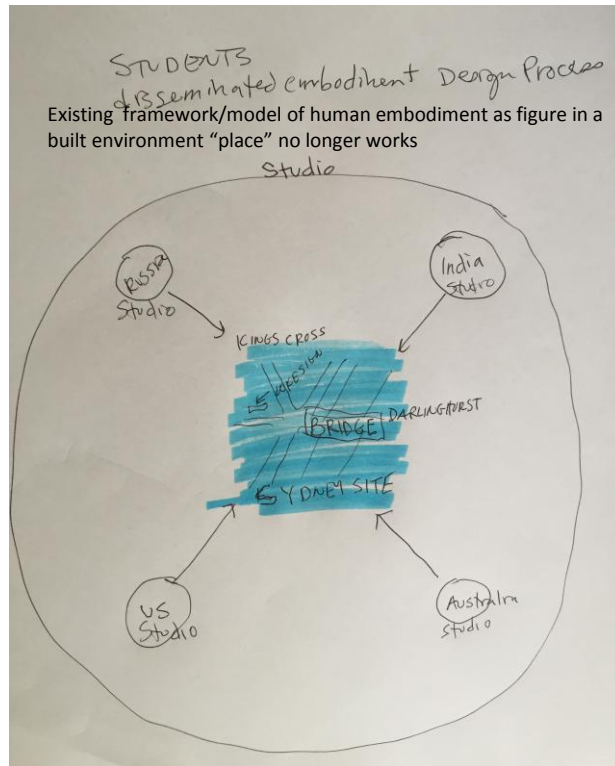

Diagram by Scott Skipworth

ORCID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-2674-529X>

Embodied student physically at site visit while meeting with studios at remotely located campuses through mobile technology: student is disseminated – in “place” across locations: Where to put one X to represent student figure in a place? (can’t)

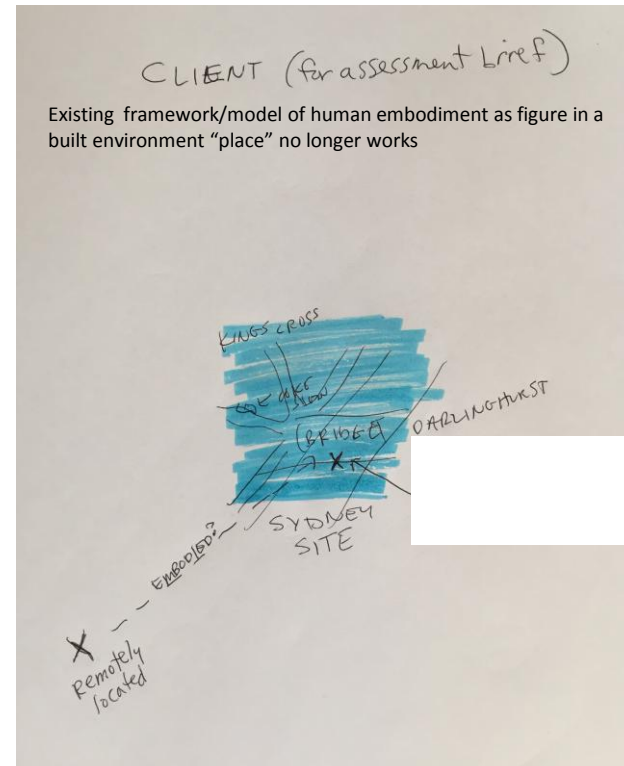

Diagram by Scott Skipworth

ORCID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-2674-529X>

Embodied client/user physically at home interacting with remote urban site through personal (home) and building mounted (site) technology (body sharing?)– in “place” across locations: Where to put one X to represent the user figure in a place? (can’t)